Kind Votes to Move Forward on Intelligence Reforms

Washington, DC – Today, Congressman Ron Kind voted in support of legislation that enacts some of the intelligence reforms recommended by the Sept. 11 commission. The bill (HR10) will create a national intelligence director and national counterterrorism center that will coordinate intelligence efforts in the executive branch.

“While I am disappointed Congressional leaders refused to debate the more comprehensive intelligence reform bill which I have cosponsored (HR5150), I believe it is important we move this effort forward as quickly as possible,” said Congressman Kind. “I plan to work with the members of the House and Senate conference committee to more closely align the bill the House passed today with the 9/11 Commission’s recommendations contained in the Senate’s overwhelmingly bipartisan-supported bill.”
